Opportunity:

The Family Medicine Residency Program at Dignity Health California Hospital Medical Center (CHMC) is dedicated to your career growth and to educating future family medicine physicians. Located in the heart of Downtown LA, this unopposed 24 resident program trains family physicians to provide compassionate and comprehensive care to a diverse, urban, medically underserved population and to guide trainees to excel in both academic and clinical medical careers. The program is committed to advance healthcare through education, research, medical service, and community.

CHMC's Family Medicine Residency, in affiliation with UCLA School of Medicine, seeks a dynamic, visionary leader to help shape the future direction of this vital and well-established residency program. The Program Director will continue to ensure excellence in resident training, support faculty in teaching and scholarship, and provide clinical services that address the healthcare needs of Los Angeles and the region. The Program Director must possess the required specialty expertise, as well as documented educational and administrative abilities, to carry out the responsibilities of the role and to achieve the goals and objectives of the program and CHMC. Additionally, the Program Director must have a heart for working with a diverse patient population.

The Family Medicine Residency Program enjoys a strong affiliation with our community-based partners. On various rotations, residents spend time seeing patients at the Eisner Family Medical Center near the hospital, and South Central Family Health Center, located approximately three miles south of the hospital campus. Our community partners serve a largely indigent patient population, primarily Central American immigrants and help their own residents in models of healthcare for our inner-city communities.

When you join a Dignity Health residency program, you become a member of one of the largest hospital systems in the nation and the largest not-for-profit acute care provider in California. Not only will you experience our commitment to delivering the next generation of excellent health care, you'll practice in a warm and supportive environment where you can grow professionally and personally.
