

Supplemental materials for:

O’Gurek DT, Strand N, Gibbs J, Hoover-Hankerson B, Oluwafisayo V. Begin the Turn: a mobile recovery program for a targeted urban population. Ann Fam Med. 2020;18(5):465.

David T. O’Gurek, MD, FAAFP^{1,2}

Nicolle Strand²

Jonetta Gibbs²

Bryson Hoover-Hankerson^{2,3}

Victor Oluwafisayo Jegede^{2,3}

¹Department of Family & Community Medicine, Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

²Center for Urban Bioethics, Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

³Lewis Katz School of Medicine at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Key words: addiction; community; homelessness; comprehensive mobile care; recovery

Submitted January 1, 2020; submitted, revised, January 27, 2020; accepted February 5, 2020.

Funding support: Support for this program was provided in part by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Department of Human Services

Previous presentation: Philadelphia Cease Addiction: A Comprehensive Public Health Strategy to Tackling the Overdose Crisis presented at American Academy of Family Physicians FMX; September 25, 2019; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Reference

1. Aldridge RW, Story A, Hwang SW, et al. Morbidity and mortality in homeless individuals, prisoners, sex workers, and individuals with substance use disorders in high-income countries: a systematic review and meta-analysis. Lancet. 2018;391(10117):241-250.