

Supplemental material for:

Carroll JK, Finn L, Scharer K, et al. Moving from in-person to telehealth group visits for a mindful-eating healthy nutrition program. Ann Fam Med. 2021;19(5):466-466.

Jennifer K. Carroll, MD, MPH^{1,2}

Leonard Finn, MD³

Kirsten Scharer³

Lauren Kiel⁴

Ashley Kiel⁵

Elisabeth Callen, PhD, GStat⁶

Erin Callister⁷

Ina Campbell⁸

Emma Anderson, MA⁹

Lauren Grossman, MD, SM^{2,10}

Carrie Landin, PsyD²

Anne Nederveld, MD, MPH¹

¹University of Colorado Department of Family Medicine, Aurora, Colorado

²UCHealth Integrative Medicine Center, Denver, Colorado

³Needham Wellesley Family Medicine PC, Wellesley, Massachusetts

⁴Tufts University, Middlesex County, Massachusetts

⁵Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts

⁶American Academy of Family Physicians, Leawood, Kansas

⁷University of Nevada, Reno School of Medicine, Reno, Nevada

⁸MarillacHealth, Grand Junction, Colorado

⁹Center for Improving Value in Health Care, Denver, Colorado

¹⁰University of Colorado, Division of General Internal Medicine, Aurora, Colorado

Key words: telehealth; mindfulness; healthy nutrition; group visits

Previous presentation: Preliminary results were presented at the North American Primary Care Research Group (NAPCRG) 2019 Annual Meeting; November 16-20, 2019; Toronto, Canada, and the 2020 NAPCRG PBRN meeting, August 13-14, 2020.